IS IT SETTLED?

The Great Southwestern Strike in a Queer Light.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
NEW YORK, March 28.—This morning, at 11 o'clock, T. V. Powderly and William B. McDowell called on Jay Gould at the latter's residence. There they met Messrs. Gould, Hopkins and George Gould. There was a general discussion of the situation in the southwest by both sides, and a better understanding was arrived at than had been had by either party hitherto. After talking until 1 p. m. the conference was adjourned until evening.

At 7 o'clock to-night they met again. At 8:30 p. m., Mr. Powderly had to leave, to keep an engagement with Congressman John O'Neill, of St. Louis, chairman of the house committee on labor, who came from Washington to render assistance, if possible, in settling the strike. Mr. McDowell, however, remained with Mr. Gould and his party, and Mr. Gould finally handed to McDowell the following communication:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE,
MISSOURI PACIFIC RY., March 28.
T. V. Powderly, G. M. W.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your letter of the 27th inst., I write to say that I will, to-morrow morning, send the following telegraphic instructions to Mr. Hoxie, general manager of the Missouri Pacific railroad at St. Louis:

"In resuming the movement of trains on the Missouri Pacific, and in the employing of laborers in the several departments of this company, give preference to our late employees, whether they are Knights of Labor or not, except that you will not employ any person who has injured the company's property during the late strike. Nor will we discharge any person who has taken service with the company during said strike.

"We see no objection to arbitrating any differences between the employees and the company past and future. Hoping the above will be satisfactory, I remain yours, very truly,

"JAY GOULD, President."

The executive board of the Knights of Labor have sent out the following telegram:

"Martin Irons, Chairman Executive Board, D. A. No. 101, St. Louis.

"President Jay Gould has consented to our proposition for arbitration, and so telegraphs Vice-President Hoxie. Order the men to resume work at once.

"By order of the executive board,

"T. V. POWDERLY, G. M. W."

The executive board also sent out the following telegram:

"To the Knights of Labor now on strike in the Southwest:

"President Jay Gould has consented to our proposition for arbitration, and so telegraphs Vice-President Hoxie. Pursuant to telegraphic instructions sent to the chairman of executive board D. A. 101, you are directed to resume work at once.

"Per order of executive board,

"T. V. POWDERLY, G. M. W."

The News To-day.

St. Louis, March 29.—The striking Knights of Labor on the Missouri railroad are awaiting official instructions from Chairman Irons before returning to work. He is expected here from Sedalia to-day.

McGARY IS CONTRARY.

St. Louis, March 29.—J. J. McGary, judge advocate of the Knights of Labor, says: "The men will not go back to work on Powderly's order until other matters are arbitrated upon, and then no matter how this arbitration results, all men must be taken back without any discrimination being shown against any for being leaders, or for any other cause. The refusal to obey Powderly's orders will not be a violation of the laws of the Knights."

MR. GOULD TALKS.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Mr. Gould said to-day he had assented to no line of arbitration, but would not interfere with Mr. Hoxie pursuing that course.

IRONS WILL NOT TALK.

SEDALIA, Mo., March 29.—Martin Irons arrived here this morning and refused to talk about the situation. He sent word to Supt. Sibley not to run any trains until the settlement of the strike was confirmed. His request was ignored, and up to 10 o'clock four freight trains had been sent out.

NOT WORKING YET.

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—The Missouri Pacific ran one freight train soon after 10 o'clock, and another followed about an hour later. Neither elicited any particular interest. Up to noon none of the strikers had presented themselves at the shops or yards to resume work. The conference between the general executive board and Jay Gould was adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE CIRCULAR SUSTAINED.

In regard to his circular published recently, Mr. Powderly said: "When I issued this circular, until yesterday I intended it as a secret communication to the Knights of Labor in their various assemblies. I was surprised to see it in print, but since it has appeared, I do not deny its authorship. Since it has not yet reached all remote assemblies, I have received no less than 900 letters from 900 district assemblies indorsing and approving of its every sentiment, each under the seal of the order. Most of these letters have come from assemblies oldest in the order, but many came from new branches of the organization. I considered this circular an absolute necessity, for some ill-advised enthusiasts have lately been bringing the Knighthood into a false position before the public. One of our chief purposes in coming to New York just at this time, is to undo, if possible a grievous wrong, which was done to Mr. Gould last fall upon the settlement of similar troubles on the Wabash road. Then the attacks upon him by the press and many so-called or would-be mouth pieces of the Knights were simply outrageous.

STRIKERS ORDERED TO WORK.

St. Louis, March 29.—Joint executive committees of district assemblies 101, 93 and 17, in session this morning have just issued the following brief address:

"To Knights of Labor of the Southwest:

"FELLOW WORKMEN: We congratulate you on your manhood and fortitude during the late great fight for recognition and right. Now that the battle is fought and victory won, let us bear our laurels as men of dignity and moderation. Every man to his post and to his duty with quiet and sobriety. Let us exhibit the same zeal for the upbuilding of the business of the west that we have just done in proving that labor is king."

By order of the joint executive board.

WON'T SETTLE.

The Strikers Continue to Obstruct Traffic.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL at 3:30 p. m.

St. Louis, March 29.—Large crowds congregated in East St. Louis to-day and when an effort was made to start a freight train in the Vandallia yard crowds swarmed around it, drew the coupling pins and otherwise obstructed its movements so the train was abandoned.

TRAINS MOVING.

St. Louis, March 29.—Traffic has been practically resumed on the Iron Mountain road. Two trains left to-day and three arrived from the south. Quite a number of men applied for work and were employed.

STRIKERS ARRESTED.

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—Warrants were sworn out this morning at the instance of special attorneys of the Missouri Pacific road, against J. J. McGary, judge advocate of district assembly No. 101, C. M. Chase and a man named Burdette, for obstructing trains and trespassing upon the property of the company.

DONT SEEM TO SETTLE.

About 2 o'clock crowds of strikers left the relay depot and went to the yards of the Ohio and Mississippi, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the national stock yards and killed an engine at each place. The Wabash road started out a train of fifteen cars at 2:30 p. m.

Albert Larrimore and Augusta Kranichfeld have been licensed to marry.

Isaac Harrod, one of the oldest and best known farmers of the county, is lying at the point of death.

Marshal Field et al sued Modewell & Stador for attorney fees for $1,000. Chapin & O'Rourke are attorneys for the claimants.

Mason Long and George W. Pixley will erect a $20,000 building this spring on their property, next to the Journal office.

The Wabash Plain Dealer says of a young man well known here: "Frank Blount who for several years has been connected with Blount & Morse's wholesale drug store, has made a change of base, and since last Monday morning has been in the employ of Schnull & Krag, wholesale grocers and importers of coffee, at Indianapolis. This firm is to be congratulated on obtaining Frank's services." Mr. Blount is a cousin of Mrs. J. J. Boegan, of Fort Wayne.

THE MANDOLIN CRAZE.

The Latest Freak of Fashionable Society Women—Pianos and Banjos Abandoned.

(Special Correspondence.)
NEW YORK, March 28.—The young people of fashionable society are simply children of larger growth. This is discerned in the shallowness of their conversation and exhibited in the vagaries of their tastes. No sooner they acquire one fad than they quickly tire of it and look around for some other toy. In this exclusive set in society there is but little originality of thought, so that if one of their number but stumbles against a novelty in the way of amusement it is likely to develop into a craze for a season and be as quickly forgotten. A dozen years ago "Jim" Bennett fitted up a hall and introduced roller skating. It became the rage that winter, but was not heard of afterwards until its recent popular revival. So it was with polo, which was brought over here by this same eccentric newspaper proprietor. It was considered so essential an accomplishment for the dude of that day that this continent and Europe were scouring to find ponies with low enough draft to permit the rider's feet to touch the ground while playing the game. To-day it is remembered only by the name given to the grounds here and in Newport, which were then devoted to it. Then came bicycling, fox hunting and walking, and fashionable sports. The present youth's mind seems to turn to horse riding. With the young ladies, the various freaks in which their tastes exhibit themselves are too variable to be easily defined, but certain it is that the latest craze is mandolin playing.

A SPANISH MANDOLIN PLAYER.

It was not long since that the banjo was the rage, when all the negro minstrel-looking chaps in town that could raise a respectable suit of clothes were in demand as teachers. What possessed society girls to take up the banjo is as easily answered as the question, Who assaulted Mr. Patterson? The banjo, besides being an imperfect instrument at best, is the one that affords the least satisfactory accompaniment to the popular arias of the day. Then it is not likely that their delicate fingers could ever become sufficiently callous to withstand the painful wear on the strings. So it is likely that it was for this last reason that the mandolin was adopted, as the strumming on the strings is performed with what is called a plectrum, instead of the dainty fingers. The mandolin is an instrument of Spanish origin, and was possibly brought to the attention of our public first by the numerous troupes of Spanish students who visit this country. It has eight strings, strung in couples, representing the same tone, so that the strings themselves represent but four notes. The object of the double string is to produce the trill upon which the effect largely depends. Mandolins vary in price from $5 to $200, and it is said that one factory in Connecticut is running night and day, turning out the "imported" mandolins that average about $25 in price. With the rage for mandolins came the necessity for instructors, and it is astonishing the number that have appeared, and the slight knowledge of English they possess.

THE AMERICAN MANDOLIN PLAYER.

These Mandolin maestros are usually Italians, who will tell you "Alah! ze banjees no good. Ze mandolin es ah so easy, so romantic," and this explanation of the popularity of their instrument is accompanied with the usual shrug of shoulders and distortion of limbs and eyebrows. The artist has allowed his fancy a little freedom in the above picture, and portrayed the signor as he appeared but a few years ago in his native costume, before he was shaven, and crowded into the broadcloth he wears at present. And these are the gentlemen who are now admitted into the most fashionable parlors. The artist has also caught exceedingly well the awkward manner in which the instrument is handled by the American amateur. This primitive instrument itself is as much out of place in the elaborate surroundings of a fashionable parlor as its compass is ill adapted to the requirements of modern music, and it cannot be long before it will be ornamented and hung in company with its predecessor, the banjo, as a piece of wall decoration, and the future beaus will have it pointed out to them as one of the instruments on which the young ladies could play so "lovely." But for the present, the inimitable fashion must have its fancy gratified, and when the dusky descendant of the Caesars finds his present occupation gone, he will let his beard assume its old-time growth, once more sling the strap of the neglected band organ across his shoulders and proceed to grind out his living as before.

A Pen Picture of Lindenwood, Its Promotors, Its Price and Improvements.

The Magnificent Gravestones and a Plea for Plain, Christian Burials.

FACTS FOR FUNERALS.

And Information that Will Interest Every Lot Owner in Lindenwood.

Hon. I. D. G. Nelson sends THE SENTINEL a volume descriptive of Lindenwood cemetery. The book is from his pen and is a gem in its way. The officers of Lindenwood are:

I. D. G. Nelson, president; Col. J. D. Bond, treasurer; W. Reitze, secretary. The corporators are J. L. Williams, H. McCulloch, S. B. Bond, I. D. G. Nelson, O. P. Morgan, A. P. Edgerton, O. A. Simons, George H. Wilson, J. H. Bass, W. H. Hoffman, J. D. Bond, A. E. Hoffman. The board of trustees, I. D. G. Nelson, O. A. Simons, O. P. Morgan, J. L. Williams, S. B. Bond, with John H. Doswell, superintendent and landscape architect.

After giving a correct view of the entrance and a map of the cemetery, the articles incorporating and rules governing it are given. The report shows that on the 5th day of July, 1859, Jesse L. Williams, Hugh McCulloch, Chas. D. Bond, David F. Comparet, Royal W. Taylor, Allen Hamilton, Alexander M. Orbison, John E. Hill, Pliny Hoagland, Alfred D. Brandriff, Oehmig Bird and Isaac D. G. Nelson, purchased 152 acres of ground for burial purposes for $7,627.50. May 30, 1860, the grounds were dedicated to sepulchral purposes, and long ago the original purchasers were paid back and now have an interest in the cemetery only equal to other lot owners. "But," says the report, "while indulging in these great reflections, it is eminently proper to call to mind the fact that since our organization one-half of the original corporators, Messrs. Allen Hamilton Charles D. Bond, John E. Hill, R. W. Taylor, Oehmig Bird and Pliny Hoagland, have gone to rest, and are now sleeping in the bosom of the earth they took so much interest in purchasing and preparing for the purpose."

After the first purchase twenty-seven acres or so were added at a cost of $2,480 but later some fifty-two acres were sold for $4,530, not to mention the spot of land sold to the Jewish cemetery, leaving 124 acres owned by the Lindenwood Cemetery association.

The report touches on the natural beauty of the ground and notes the improvements added, among which is the iron fence, costing $2,552.25 and the stone lodge, costing $6,961.29. Mr. Nelson notes the neglect of old grave yards, and commends the disposition of the Broadway cemetery—in fact he realizes the necessity of public parks in Fort Wayne—some resting place open to all people, like Lindenwood is.

Mr. Nelson agrees with the London Daily News, that it is time to discourage feasting on the day of burial, and all useless or extravagant expenditure in the coffin and its furniture on the occasion of the funeral, and in the wearing of mourning. The society adopts the broad ground that the funerals should be conducted and mourning worn without the unmeaning pomp, vain ostentation and pageantry of hat-bands, scarfs, plumes, mourning coaches, heavy crape trimmings, and the like, which are quite inconsistent with a hopeful belief in future state, involve unprofitable expenditure, inflict severe hardship upon persons of limited means, and neither mitigate grief nor manifest respect for the dead.

It offers as suggestions: That every part of the solemn rite of burial be made a labor of love, to the exclusion, as far as possible, of paid labor; that the body be buried in a plain wood coffin in the earth itself, with nothing to arrest its return to earth whence it was taken; that perhaps the best plan that has been suggested, that both men and women wear a band of black cloth on the arm to indicate that a death has taken place in the family; and that all headstones and memorials be Christian in character.

Mr. Nelson refers to the disposition to make permanent provision for the care of lots and tomb stones and adds that the Hon. Alfred P. Edgerton, the heirs of Hon. Pliny Hoagland and Jared D. Bond, Esq., have deposited to the credit of the Lindenwood cemetery fund a liberal sum each, for the future care and protection of their lots and monuments.

The volume is illustrated with pictures of the finest monuments that tower majestically in the "city of the dead," where now rest over 4,925 bodies. The monuments are thus described in the book:

The Bass monument, erected in 1862, to the memory of Col. Sion S. Bass, who fell at Shiloh, by his regiment and friends. It is an appropriate marble shaft eighteen feet high, draped with the American flag—a fitting tribute to his bravery and patriotism.

The Hanna monument, erected in 1864 by the heirs of Judge Samuel Hanna, is of Italian marble, die style, twelve feet high, appropriately ornamented with trusses. Its workmanship and finish is equalled by few of its class.

The Ewing monument, erected in 1870, is a Scotch, highly polished granite obelisk, thirty-five feet high, resting on a Quincy granite base eight feet square. It is said to be the largest and finest single shaft of Scotch granite in America. It was selected and erected by Mr. B. D. Miner, executor of the estate of Col. George W. Ewing.

The Edgerton monument is an obelisk of Italian marble, twenty feet high, sound and beautiful when erected in 1872, but is now disintegrating and showing signs of decay. Mr. Alfred P. Edgerton, by whom it was erected, has provided for its restoration, if ever needed, by a wise and liberal provision to the bequest fund, which was made before any signs of decay began to appear.

The Williams monument was erected by Mr. Jesse L. Williams in 1875. It is an obelisk of Westerly, Rhode Island, granite, twenty-eight feet high, hammer-dressed, of massive, fine and commanding proportions.

The Simons monument is of Westerly, Rhode Island, granite, erected in 1876 by Mr. Oscar A. Simons. It is of cottage style, hammer-dressed, with polished die, twelve feet high; one of the most attractive and solid works of the kind.

The Wood monument, a sarcophagus, from the Hallowell, Maine, quarries; lower base, eleven feet six inches, by eight feet six inches; height, nine feet. It was exhibited at the centennial at Philadelphia, in 1876, and erected the same year. The workmanship is surpassingly fine, and the style attractive. It was erected by Mrs. George W. Wood in memory of her husband.

The Morgan monument was erected in 1884 by Mr. Oliver P. Morgan. It is made of Quincy (Mass.) granite, cottage style, ornamented with columns and capitals; height ten feet; hammer-dressed, with polished die; distinct and attractive.

LOOK THEM OVER.

Items of Interest to the People of Fort Wayne.

"Mrs. Hunsicker, of Monroeville, accompanied by Mrs. Brandberry, of the same place, are visiting Henry Hunsicker, of this city," says the South Bend Times.

There are at present 265,000 Indians in the United States, and the landed estates of these red skin aristocrats amounts to 132,000,000 acres. The law gives 1,100 to an Indian and his square, and if there are four children the family is endowed by Uncle Sam with 3,300 acres.

An exchange well says: "Newspaper editing is very funny amusement. If you give a man a puff he never sees it; but let one line against him appear, and he sees it almost before the paper is off the press; and while he would not have time to stop and say 'thank you' he has time to race all over town to denounce the editor who seeks to print the news."

Over in Noble county the medical society has adopted a new plan for the doctoring the poor of the county. Instead of bidding for the work as has been the practice heretofore, the society has agreed to do the doctoring for the poor of the entire county for a certain sum, and the poor are at liberty to call any physician they may desire, thus often saving them the trouble of going a great distance, as often under the old plan the county doctor lived a great distance away.

Amos Yocum, G. W. Chambers and James Corder, who have just been discharged from the Michigan City penitentiary, after two years of imprisonment, were each released from the penalty of fine and costs by Commissioner Martindale. Yocum is the Cherrubasco postmaster who embezzled postoffice funds and fled to Denver, but afterward returned and surrendered to the officers. Chambers and Corder were counterfeiters, the former having been arrested at Island Lake and the latter at Evansville.

The Richmond Telegram of a recent date furnishes the following incident connected with Graham, the murderer of his wife. It says that Joe Brush an engineer for whom Graham was fireman after his release from the Northern prison, and who resides at Richmond, makes the following statement: "After Graham was released from the state's prison I had quite a long talk with him. He says that while he was in Michigan City he got up a plan to escape. About half the convicts were taken into his confidence and the plan was laid to murder the guards and release every convict in the prison. One of the prisoners, in hopes of securing the good will of the guards and superior officers, revealed the plot, and on the day that Graham was to lead the insurrection he was seized and placed in the dungeon, where for sixty days he was fed only on bread and water. No more chances for such bloody work were given him and he served out his time, but this incident goes to show what a bloody-minded scoundrel he is."

CHATTANOOGA, March 29.—William Jusus, trustee of Grainger county, Tenn., who enjoyed the absolute confidence of the community, on Friday returned from his office and placed $2,500 in his room, which he had collected in county taxes. He had his wife good bye, saying he had business in an adjoining county and would return next day. During the day a cousin of the lady came to her house and was given a room for the night. About midnight he was aroused by a burglar and found on him. The thief fell dead. He proved to be the trustee, who was endeavoring to steal public money.

PULLMAN CARS.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27.—The case of Thomas G. Gaylord against the Pullman palace car company for loss by the theft of a $300 scarf pin while asleep on one of the company's cars, was decided in favor of the plaintiff. The court holds the company responsible on these grounds as a hotel for the property of its guests. The case will be carried to the higher courts.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—The type-setting contest, which began here on Tuesday, March 17, closed Saturday, Duguid, of Cincinnati, taking the first prize, and McCann, of New York, second. Duguid exceeded all previous records, his net composition being 6,635 oms in three hours. The record of the eight contestants in the thirty-three hours of the tournament was as follows: Duguid, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, 69,200 ems; McCann, of the New York Herald, 68,907; Barnes, of the New York World, 65,714; L. V. of the Chicago Herald, 61,299; Thies, of the Philadelphia Times, 59,423; Washington, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, 53,230; Nolan of the Philadelphia North American, 52,575; Craze, of the Philadelphia News, 47,434. Mr. Duguid says "it was a hard contest all through. I never was before pitted against such experienced compositors as McCann and Barnes, and I consider it a great honor to win the championship against men who in turn have held the title. I attribute my success to my temperance principles, for I suppose you know that I neither smoke or drink."

COMMON SENSE IN LAFAYETTE.

Lafayette, Ind., shares with twenty-three other cities and towns in the United States, the distinction of being named after the great French patriot who did so much for this country and his own, but it is alone in the honor of being mentioned in the Encyclopedia Britannica. Life in the lively pushing city on the Wabash, with its many cosy homes, fine public buildings and general air of prosperity and enterprise, is very pleasant, and recently many of its citizens feel that it has assumed new charms since rheumatism has been robbed of its terrors.

This great benefactor, however, is not one which rejoices this particular Lafayette alone, but it has been given to other Lafayettes as well, and to the world. Athlaphoros is the magic remedy which drives away rheumatism and neuralgia, and Lafayette has only shown its characteristic enterprise in recognizing the new cure's many virtues. Among those whom it has benefited is Mrs. Francis Heath, of No. 79 Ferry street, an old resident and the mother of banker Heath. In answer to one who recently called on her to learn the facts in the case she gave this account:

"I have had rheumatic pains in my feet for a number of years. They affected me at times so that it was with much difficulty that I could walk, especially in going down stairs. Athlaphoros was first recommended to me by Bishop Bowman. I did not get it at that time, but kept trying other medicines. It was again recommended to me by a lady. I then sent for and bought a bottle. I took a dose, and it seemed to me as if I could feel it go through my system until it came directly to the sore spot. It felt just as a little stream of water looks when during its course it comes in contact with a pebble. One or the other must give way. The water may run around the stone, but that was not the way Athlaphoros did. It did not go around the pain, but drove it away. The relief was almost instantaneous. While I am getting along in years and cannot expect to get rid entirely of these pains at once, yet a small dose of Athlaphoros in a little while—the way in which I find most pleasant to take it—relieves the pain immediately."

Mr. Balbridge, who is in the real estate and insurance business at No. 94 South Third street, and who lives at No. 17 North Sixth street, happening to be passing while Mrs. Heath was speaking, she called him in and he gladly told how he had been cured of rheumatism by Athlaphoros.

"I was just about to start down to my office one morning last winter," he said, "when a terrible pain took me right in the hip and then ran down the sciatic nerve as quick as lightning. It was with much pain and distress that I managed to get down to my office at all. My business being such that it was necessary for me to be at the office every day, I was obliged to hobble along and get there the best I could. I suffered for some time in this way, trying all kinds of remedies, but nothing seemed to check the disease until I commenced using Athlaphoros. The first four doses gave me relief. I only used one bottle, and am perfectly well, as you see me now. I have never had any return of the pain since I took the Athlaphoros."

If you cannot get ATHLAPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed, ATHLAPHOROS CO., 112 Wall Street, New York.

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.
MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1886.

MRS. JAMES BROWN POTTER, who recently electrified a Washington audience by reciting "Ostler Joe," was a witness in a New York law case several days ago. She wore an English ulster, and attracted much attention as she gave her testimony in a clear and concise manner.

THE Hon. Proctor Knott gives Moses the highest place as a statesman in the history of the human race. But the New Orleans Picayune makes the pertinent and practical suggestion that "when Moses lived there was no lobby to bribe the legislature and no morning papers to give a man's mistakes away."

"C. O. D.," which has become incorporated into mercantile phraseology, was invented in Boston a quarter of a century ago by Henry Damon, who sold many boots and shoes subject to payment upon delivery. The express order, "collect on delivery," was then thus abbreviated.

CHIEF MAHERY, of the New York Fire Department, was killed recently while en route to a fire, his wagon being dashed to pieces by colliding with a fire engine. About a year ago the Chief of the Cincinnati Fire Department was killed in the same way, and shortly thereafter an Assistant Fire Marshal of Chicago lost his life under similar circumstances.

ALEX CULBERSON was on trial at Lafayette, Ga., for assault with intent to murder. When he got up to make his statement to the jury he determined to use an argument that in these hard times would fall with telling effect. He said: "Gemmen, I don't want to go to the chain-gang. I owe Mr. George Clements lots of money, and I want you to let me stay here so I can work and pay him what I owe him." He got clear.

LIEUT. GEN. PHIL SHERIDAN is a domestic man, fond of his children, three bright little girls, with whom he may frequently be seen walking on pleasant afternoons in Washington. "Little Phil's" hair is quite gray and his mustache is almost white, but he wears a red necktie. He also wears a sack coat, a tall alk hat, carries his cane in his coat pocket with a jaunty air, and looks like the brave beau-sabreur he is.

MASSENA H. BALLOU, of Stoughton, Massachusetts, is the lord-high-almost-everything in his neighborhood. He has just been elected Selectman in addition to numerous other offices he holds. A local newspaper says: "As Assessor, he will assess the taxes; as Collector, he will collect the same; as Treasurer, he will receive them, giving himself a receipt therefor; as Selectman, he will vote to spend it, and draw an order on himself for the money, which, as Treasurer, he will pay."

JANITOR KING, of the Virginia City court house, bought a piece of cheese and put it in his overcoat pocket, and afterward laid the coat down for a time. Then he put it on and went to a saloon, where he played cards for the drinks. He noticed, as he thought, that Tom Gracey, who was looking on, nudged him very often as a signal how to play his cards. He lost, and accused Gracey of misleading him. While Gracey was denying that he had touched him, a big rat jumped out of King's pocket. He had been feasting on the cheese and nudging the card-player.

THE latest idea in Berlin is a musical sewing machine, which plays a succession of lively tunes while in action. This is making the labor of needle women a luxury, and causes a wonder to arise what Hood's songstresses of the shirt would have said of such a change. Another mechanical novelty interesting to ladies is the application of electric light to the piano-forte. The material and mechanism are concealed inside the case, so that the light is provided for the performer without any apparent disturbance of the ordinary structure.

The late Dr. Samuel Wolcott, the eminent Congregationalist minister, in his later life wrote many hymns, and has left on record an account of how he began to do so. He was fifty-six years old, and had never put two rhymes together, and had taken it for granted that he was as incompetent to write a hymn, or even a stanza, as to work a miracle. "However," he says, "I resolved that I would try to write a hymn of five stanzas, and proceeded to plan it, precisely as I would plan a sermon. I said, the first stanza shall be a recognition of God the Father; the second a recognition of Christ the Redeemer; the third a prayer to Christ the Redeemer; the fifth shall blend the two in one address. * * * A more perfect recipe for wooden stanzas it would be difficult to frame." The result was the hymn beginning "Father, I own Thy voice," and the author was surprised to find he had written what could actually be sung. Many of his hymns have become favorites throughout the country.

BILIOUSNESS
Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, offensive breath, coated tongue, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

It developed at Uniontown, Pa., Friday, that Captain A. C. Nutt, who was murdered by Dukes, who in turn was killed by his victim's son, was short in his accounts as state treasurer $42,500 at the time of his death. The question of settlement of the Nutt estate led to the disclosure.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh herbs are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cures of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia or pain in the chest are simply marvelous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

Go to Florida and return over the Grand Rapids and Indiana and Louisville and Nashville railroads. Less than one fare for round trip. On sale March 31 and April 1, good to return until May 1. Inquire of J. K. McCracken for space in sleeper, and full particulars.

CHEAP EXCURSION.

ANSON HUGH, of Blackberry, Ill., says he owes his life to Gilmore's Magnetic Elixir. Try it.

MR. A. HIGGINS, of Wyoming, N. Y., says he had the piles for nearly 40 years, and was cured by using Gilmore's Pile Specific.

WHY WILL YOU SUFFER from ague and malaria when Gilmore's Aromatic Wine will cure you?
GILMORE'S NEURALGIA CURE is a positive cure for neuralgia in the face, side and stomach.

JOHN H. YATES, of Batavia, N. Y., says:

"I cheerfully commend Your AROMATIC WINE. It did new life and vigor send through this weak frame of mine. It did for all my stomach ills. More than the doctor and his pills." For sale by Dreier & Bro's., and G. H. Gumpner.

The first letter written by the poet Longfellow is copied in the new biography. The letter is dated Portland, January, 1814, the writer having almost reached his fourteenth birthday. It is as follows: "Dear Papa: Ann wants a little Bible like little Betsy's. Will you please buy her one if you can find any in Boston? I have been to school all week and only got seven marks. I shall have a billet on Monday. I wish you to buy me a drum."

Salvation Oil cures rheumatism in from twelve to forty-eight hours. Swellings and bruises in a few hours. All pains immediately upon application. Price 25 cents a bottle.

The Rev. Oscar D. Osborne, a married preacher, who eloped last November from Portsmouth, Ohio, with a young woman whom he married without getting a divorce, plead guilty of bigamy at Cincinnati, Friday, and sobbed bitterly.

The "old reliable"—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

In the Dear Old Days.
We differ in creed and politics, but we are a unit all the same on the desirableness of a fine head of hair. If you mourn the loss of this blessing and ornament, a bottle or two of Parker's Hair Balsam will make you look as you did in the dear old days. It is worth trying. It is the only standard 50c article for the hair.

The skeleton of a mastodon has been discovered on a farm near Mattoon, Ill., and scientists from the University of Illinois are expected to superintend the work of exhuming the remains. Teeth four inches square on the face have been taken up.

MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1886.

THE CITY.

Mr. T. E. Edison was at St. Louis yesterday.

Mr. H. C. Hanna was at Lafayette last Saturday.

John Turner died at the poor house on Sunday morning.

The "Breadwinner" company opens at the Academy to-night.

Pat Moran was sent to jail for drunkenness, this morning, by Mayor Muhler.

John T. Raymond will play "The Magistrate" at the Temple next Saturday.

Next Thursday is all fool's day. Everybody gets a chance on that agreeable occasion.

Jack Hamilton leaves to-morrow for Chicago, and will ship his horse, Alrex, that city.

Murray's foundry was opened this morning, after being shut down for a few days.

Henry Cook and Mary E. Slagle, Wm. Wessel and Lizetta Hilke have been licensed to wed.

There will be Lenten services in St. Paul's Lutheran church on Wednesday morning and evening.

The United Brethren temperance society will give a concert at the church parlors Wednesday evening.

M. N. Jacobs is the papa of a sweet girl baby and his friends smoke to the cherub, and wish it "massetoff."

The German opera company passed through the city yesterday, from Chicago for Pittsburg, on train No. 6.

A big force of men are excavating for Louis Fox's business block, at the corner of Calhoun and Jefferson streets.

The county commissioners will rebuild the Williamsport bridge for about $4,500. The first estimate placed the cost at $8,000.

The democratic nominating convention of Lafayette township will be held at the Center school house on Saturday, April 3, at 2 o'clock.

"Mr. Joseph Stults made a visit to his sons, Drs. Charles and Emery, located in Fort Wayne, Friday evening," says the Huntington Herald.

Milt H. Williams, Indianapolis; Miss Sadie Collett, Hillsdale; G. J. Pippins, Huntington, and W. Wallace, Lafayette, are guests of the Aveline house.

Mr. Wm. Wilkinson, of Troy, N. Y., is the guest of his brothers, Supt. John Wilkinson, of the country home, and Lieut. Frank Wilkinson, of the police force.

A Pennsylvania railroad official says that without question the company will be running its own sleeping coaches on its entire system before eighteen months rolls around.

The Pittsburg limited made the run this morning from Crestline to this city, a distance of 131 miles, in two hours and forty-five minutes, with seven stops. The train was behind time.

Mr. O. T. Thomas, formerly a SENTINEL typo, has quit the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and is at Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Thomas anticipates going on a farm out there, although at present he is sticking type.

Building permits have been issued to Christian Pohlman to build a one-story frame house on lot 2, Reed's addition to cost $350, and to Louis Hazzard, to erect a frame stable on lot 80, Bowersville addition, to cost $100.

Dr. B. B. McMannus, formerly a Gazette reporter, is in very poor health. From his home near Lagrange he writes poetry for the Warsaw Iron Mountain. He is a regular contributor to the San Francisco Call and Boston Journal. His forthcoming volume of poems will be interesting.

"The Breadwinner" at the Academy to-night.

Mr. Louis Brames was at Richmond Saturday.

The glass blowers went to New York this morning.

The "Naiad Queen" at the Temple to-morrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heustis have engaged the Tolan home on East Wayne street, and will remove from Toledo to this city. Mr. Heustis travels for A. C. Trentman.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Rain, followed by slightly colder weather.

Rev. Father Twigg, of Arcola, came to the city this morning and is a guest of the St. Joseph hospital, where he will remain for several weeks. Father Twigg is completely broken down in health.

H. C. Arnold, Bluffton; D. A. Walmer, Montpelier, S. Kleicher, Indianapolis; W. H. Huettis and wife, Toledo; Samuel Sault, Indianapolis; Carlos Zaruska, Chicago, and O. C. Morrow, Cincinnati, are guests of the Robinson house.

As THE SENTINEL suggested, Mr. Sam R. Millen has been requested by prominent citizens and will repeat the "Naiad Queen" at the Temple to-morrow night. The show will have a great house, as it should, besides it is a pleasure to assist Mr. Millen.

Miss Fannie Page sang Miss Stella Lawrence's part in the "Naiad Queen" last Saturday night. Although the young lady had but a brief time for rehearsal, she did remarkably well and pleased every one. Miss Churchill, her cousin, made a decided hit in the operetta, and her beauty has been favorably commented on.

The remains of Helen King, little daughter of Mr. Pendleton King, and granddaughter of Hon. L. M. Ninde, and who died about two years ago at her southern home, will be brought to this city on Wednesday of this week. The interment will take place at Lindenwood. Mr. King goes shortly to Constantinople as secretary of legation, to which he has been appointed by President Cleveland.

James M. Taylor, clerk of Washington county, writes from Salem, Ind., that he is a democratic candidate for secretary of state. Mr. Taylor wants THE SENTINEL to notice his candidacy and he "will prepay the charges." Mr. Taylor will get no notice, neither can his money buy one. THE SENTINEL is not in that kind of business. A gentleman's democracy or his personal friendship may win for him complimentary mention in THE SENTINEL, but his boodle can not. This paper prefers to earn its money honestly.

The strike west is beginning to tell severely on the passenger as well as through freight traffic. One general passenger agent states that the through business is fully 50 per cent. lighter than it would have been had these labor troubles had arisen. It has practically stopped emigration. Hundreds of farmers in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, who had made arrangements to emigrate to Kansas and other southwestern territories, dare not start with their families, so much uncertainty is there as to their getting through.

Master Mechanic W. S. Morris returned from Springfield last evening, where he was called by Mr. Barnes. He said to our railroad reporter that everything was quiet along the line, except at the St. Louis yards, where a few switchmen struck, but he expected that the little disturbance would all be settled to-day. He goes on to say that when the strike is settled the Wabash would run all it can do and the shops would run nine hours the year around without shutting down, and some months they will run ten hours.

BOSHET'S TRIAL.

The Aboit Township Farmer Makes a Good Defense.

John L. Boshet was arraigned before Justice Ryan this afternoon for attempting to kill his wife with an axe.

The justice court was too small and an adjournment was had to the old superior court room in the court house. Prosecutor Dawson appeared for the state and detailed the career of Boshet and his murderous intent, not only in striking his wife with an axe, but by threats against his children.

Boshet said he did raise an ax to his wife an tossed it at her, but he insisted that it was in his endeavor to force a confession out of the woman, whom he suspected of illicit intimacy with Henry Thomas, the con now in jail. Boshet related how the children were urged from home and how Thomas would step around to get his "washing" or "grind an axe." The old gentleman is quite intelligent and made a pretty strong case against his wife, who sat near him and is an unprepossessing looking female, from whose face perspiration streamed as her peculiarities were aired.

Justice Ryan said there was no case against Boshet and the crowd cheered him. The man, however, at Prosecutor Dawson's suggestion, was held under a $100 bond to await a grand jury investigation. Thomas, the negro will be liberated and Mrs. Boshet will have a private hearing.

BEACH'S BAD BREAK.

A Tale of Two Cities Disclosed in a Divorce Complaint.

Dorothea C. Beach this morning filed an application for a decree of divorce from Fred Beach, the second hand furniture dealer, who recently moved to Huntington. The complaint is in Mr. J. M. Robinson's master style and depicts Beach in a most unenviable light. It is charged that he is a drunkard, has cruelly treated his wife, and in fact has threatened to kill her. He has failed to provide for the support of Mrs. Beach and her two children and the woman prays that Fred be restrained from disposing of his property or his children prior to the trial. This embargo Judge O'Rourke at once placed on Beach, who is at Huntington.

Mrs. Beach is the daughter of August Reiling, the Pearl street locksmith. Saturday he went to Huntington after his daughter and her two children. Beach seized the old man, assaulted him and took the little girls forcibly from him. For this escapade he has an assault and battery and a habeas corpus case pending against him in Huntington county, besides an old assault and battery case here. Mrs. Beach alleges that her father is worth $10,000, and that he is anxious to take care of her and her children and prays Judge O'Rourke to so decide.

TOWNSHIP PRIMARIES.

Democratic Nominations Made in Six Townships Saturday.

The democrats held primary elections in Pleasant, Aboit, Monroe, Jefferson, Eel River and Perry townships, Saturday. The result as far as learned is given below:

Pleasant township—Wm. Dalman, trustee; Daniel Swank, assessor; J. J. Reihling and Cornelius Ferrell, justices of the peace; Gilbert C. Miller, constable.

Milan township—Wm. Shaffer, trustee; Steve Heath, assessor; Sol. Doty and James Nuttle, justices of the peace; Geo. Ringwalt, constable.

Perry township—George Gump, trustee; Danford Parker, assessor; P. Jackson, justice of the peace.

Jefferson township—Frank Gladio, trustee; A. Miller, assessor.

Aboit township—Oehmig Bird, trustee.

Eel River township—Luther Greenwell, trustee; Nelson Johnson, assessor. Monroe township—Sylvanus Baker, trustee; A. S. Robinson, assessor. George Hazzard in Trouble Again.

The notorious George Hazzard, a former Fort Wayne resident, who was the bright particular star in the federal court at Indianapolis for a long time several years ago, and whose crooked escapades were innumerable, has drifted out to California, and is at his old tricks again. At last accounts he was at Fresno, in jail for swindling an old man out of $15. He was identified there by a former Indianan, and at once acknowledged his identity, but claimed that he was trying to do right.

Thieves stole a quantity of meat from the cellar of Francois Cooke, at Hadley. The meat belonged to Tom Toomey, whose house recently burned there. Sheriff Nelson is after the thieves.

The Springfield Engine and Thresher company sue John Cline to recover $2,000 on a chattel mortgage. Randall & Vesey filed the suit.

Sheriff Nelson has information that E. F. Felix, who robbed Dick Meyers, of Monroeville, is under arrest at Cadwell, Ohio.

ROME

The Eternal City and Its Peculiarities Depicted by Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger.

On the occasion of Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger's lecture Sunday evening, Library hall was densely packed, not only in the auditorium, but the immense stage back of the flats was filled with people. The Catholic clergy of the city occupied places on the stage.

The Bishop was clad in cassock, rochet and cape, and his pectoral cross shone out brightly amid the white and purple vesture. In his discription of the city of Rome, the lecturer spoke of the city as it was in ancient times and as it is to-day. Sewerage, soil, climate, and other features of interest to the scientist and student were briefly referred to. The description of the grand old St. Peters was vivid and conveyed an excellent idea of the greatest temple on earth. The Basilica of St. Paul, with its huge columns of Egyptian marble and the precious stones in its rich altar were the subject of an elegant depiction. The places where St. Peter was crucified, and St. Paul beheaded, together with the catacombs, were points of much interest.

The beautiful word picture of Leo XIII was eagerly followed by the immense audience, but when the bishop told of the holy father's great love for America, her people and her government, and that the pope said "Not a country or nation in the world had the courage recently to cry a halt in the interest of its citizens, when the Italian government confiscated the propaganda, except the government of the United States," the audience cheered heartily. The bishop's pleasant narrative of his ordering the stars and stripes flung to the breeze over the American college in Rome on the Fourth of July last year, within sight of the Quirinal palace, was much enjoyed and loudly cheered.

The prelate's visit (during a delay in his work before the cardinals) to the city of Bari, at the invitation of the archbishop of that city and of Cardinal Simeoni, was of interest. On this trip, he passed through Naples, where he witnessed the liquification of the blood of St. Januarius. The clotted blood of the saint is preserved in a glass vial kept in an iron safe, to open which three different keys are required. On of these is in possession of the municipal authorities.

one is held by the archbishop and the remaining one by the Cathedral chapter. The jar is exposed to the faithful on the saint's day, in the month of May, and in full view of the congregation, without any human agency, this blood becomes perfectly liquid and as natural in color as though freshly drawn from human veins. The bishop's interesting narration of this process was of an interesting nature to the general hearer, but especially so to students and scientific men, as well as to the pious believer.

The bishop's object of his visit to Rome and his long stay of eight months in that city in the interest of the late National council were happily told.

The lecture lasted one hour and fifteen minutes amid breathless silence, and to the attentive interest of that immense audience. The bishop was in excellent voice and was distinctly heard throughout the great hall.

The Southwestern Strike Over.

The Railroaders at First Show a Disposition to Revolt, but Finally Succumb.

History of the Settlement and the Remarkable Executive Order Given in Fall.

IS IT SETTLED?

The Great Southwestern Strike in a Queer Light.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL. New York, March 28.—This morning, at 11 o'clock, T. V. Powderly and William B. McDowell called on Jay Gould at the latter's residence. There they met Messrs. Gould, Hopkins and George Gould. There was a general discussion of the situation in the southwest by both sides, and a better understanding was arrived at than had been by either party hitherto. After talking until 1 p. m. the conference was adjourned until evening.

At 7 o'clock to-night they met again. At 8:30 p. m., Mr. Powderly had to leave, to keep an engagement with Congressman John O'Neill, of St. Louis, chairman of the house committee on labor, who came from Washington to render assistance, if possible, in settling the strike. Mr. McDowell, however, remained with Mr. Gould and his party, and Mr. Gould finally handed to McDowell the following communication:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, MISSOURI PACIFIC RR., March 28.

T. V. Powderly, G. M. W. Dear Sir—Replying to your letter of the 27th inst., I write to say that I will, to-morrow morning, send the following telegraphic instructions to Mr. Hoxie, general manager of the Missouri Pacific railroad at St. Louis:

"In resuming the movement of trains on the Missouri Pacific, and in the employing of laborers in the several departments of this company, give preference to our late employees, whether they are Knights of Labor or not, except that you will not employ any person who has injured the company's property during the late strike. Nor will we discharge any person who has taken service with the company during said strike.

"We see no objection to arbitrating any differences between the employees and the company past and future. Hoping the above will be satisfactory, I remain yours, very truly,

"JAY GOULD, President."

The executive board of the Knights of Labor have sent out the following telegram:

"Martin Irons, Chairman Executive Board, D. A. No. 101, St. Louis:

"President Jay Gould has consented to our proposition for arbitration, and so telegraphs Vice President Hoxie. Order the men to resume work at once.

"By order of executive board, 'T. V. POWDERLY, G. M. W.'"

The executive board also sent out the following telegram:

"To the Knights of Labor now on strike in the Southwest:

"President Jay Gould has consented to our proposition for arbitration, and so telegraphs Vice President Hoxie. Pursuant to telegraphic instructions sent to the chairman of executive board D. A. No. 101, you are directed to resume work at once.

"By order of executive board, 'T. V. POWDERLY, G. M. W.'"

The News To-day.

St. Louis, March 29.—The striking Knights of Labor on the Missouri railroad are awaiting official instructions from Chairman Irons before returning to work. He is expected here from St. Louis to-day.

MCGARY IS CONTRARY.

St. Louis, March 29.—J. J. McGary, judge advocate of the Knights of Labor, says: "The men will not go back to work on Powderly's order until other matters are arbitrated upon, and then no matter how this arbitration results, all men must be taken back without any discrimination being shown against any for being leaders, or for any other cause. The refusal to obey Powderly's orders will not be a violation of the laws of the Knights."

MR. GOULD TALKS.

New York, March 29.—Mr. Gould said to-day he had assented to no line of arbitration, but would not interfere with Mr. Hoxie pursuing that course.

IRON WILL NOT TALK.

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—Martin Irons arrived here this morning and refused to talk about the situation. He sent word to Capt. Bixley not to run any train until the settlement of the strike.

was confirmed. His request was ignored, and up to 10 o'clock four freight trains had been sent out.

NOT WORKING YET.

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—The Missouri Pacific ran one freight train soon after 10 o'clock, and another followed about an hour later. Neither elicited any particular interest. Up to noon none of the strikers had presented themselves at the shops or yards to resume work. The conference between the general executive board and Jay Gould has adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE CIRCULAR SUSTAINED.

In regard to his circular published recently, Mr. Powderly said: "When I issued this circular, until yesterday I intended it as a secret communication to the Knights of Labor in their various assemblies. I was surprised to see it in print, but since it has appeared, I do not deny its authorship. Since it was issued on March 18, although it has not yet reached all remote assemblies, I have received no less than 900 letters from 900 district assemblies indorsing and approving of its every sentiment, each under the seal of the order. Most of these letters have come from assemblies oldest in the order, but many came from new branches of the organization. I considered this circular an absolute necessity, for some ill-advised enthusiasts have lately been bringing the Knights into a false position before the public. One of our chief purposes in coming to New York just at this time, is to undo, if possible a grievous wrong, which was done to Mr. Gould last fall upon the settlement of similar troubles on the Wabash road. Then the attacks upon him by the press and many so-called or would-be mouth pieces of the Knights were simply outrageous.

STRIKERS ORDERED TO WORK.

St. Louis, March 29.—Joint executive committee of district assemblies 101, 93 and 17, in session this morning have just issued the following brief address:

"To Knights of Labor of the Southwest:

"FELLOW WORKMEN: We congratulate you on your manhood and fortitude during the late great fight for recognition and right. Now that the battle is fought and victory won, let us bear our laurels as men of dignity and moderation. Every man to his post and to his duty with quiet and sobriety. Let us exhibit the same zeal for the upbuilding of the business of the west that we have just done in proving that labor is king."

By order of the joint executive board.

WON'T SETTLE.

The Strikers Continue to Obstruct Traffic.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL at 3:30 p. m.

St. Louis, March 29.—Large crowds congregated in East St. Louis to-day and when an effort was made to start a freight train in the Vandavia yard crowds swarmed around it, drew the coupling pins and otherwise obstructed its movements so the train was abandoned.

TRAINS MOVING.

St. Louis, March 29.—Traffic has been practically resumed on the Iron Mountain road. Two trains left to-day and three arrived from the south. Quite a number of men applied for work and were employed.

STRIKERS ARRESTED.

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—Warrants were sworn out this morning at the instance of special attorneys of the Missouri Pacific road, against J. J. McGary, judge advocate of district assembly No. 101, C. M. Olase and a man named Burdette, for obstructing trains and trespassing upon the property of the company.

DON'T SEEM TO SETTLE.

About 2 o'clock crowds of strikers left the relay depot and went to the yards of the Ohio and Mississippi, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the national stock yards and killed an engine at each place. The Wabash road started out a train of fifteen cars at 2:30 p. m.

Alfred Larimer and Augusta Knutson have been licensed to marry.

Isaac Harrod, one of the oldest and best known farmers of the county, is lying at the point of death.

Marshal Field of a sued Moderwell & Studor this afternoon for $1,000. Chapin & O'Rourke are attorneys for the claimants.

Mason Long and George W. Pixley will erect a $20,000 building this spring on their property, next to the Journal office.

The Wabash Plain Dealer says of a young man well known here: "Frank Blount who for several years has been connected with Blount & Morse's wholesale drug store, has made a change of base, and since last Monday morning has been in the employ of Schull & Krag, wholesale grocers and importers of coffee, at Indianapolis. This firm is to be congratulated on obtaining Frank's service." Mr. Blount is a cousin of Mrs. J. F. Rogers, of Fort Wayne.

THE MANDOLIN CRAZE.

The Latest Frenk of Fashionable Society Women--Pianos and Banjos Abandoned.

(Special Correspondence.)

New York, March 28.—The young people of fashionable society are simply children of larger growth. This is discerned in the shyness of their conversation and exhibited in the vagaries of their tastes. No sooner they acquire one fad than they quickly tire of it and look around for some other toy. In this exclusive set in society there is but little originality of thought, so that if one of their number but stumbles against a novelty in the way of amusement it is likely to develop into a craze for a season and be as quickly forgotten. A dozen years ago "Mind" Hemed fitted up a hall and introduced roller skating. It became the rage that winter, but was not heard of afterwards until its recent popular revival. So it was with polo, which was brought over here by this same eccentric newspaper proprietor. It was considered so essential an accomplishment for the dude of that day that this continent and Europe were scourred to find ponies with low enough draft to permit the rider's feet to touch the ground while playing the game. To-day it is remembered only by the name given to the grounds here and in Newport, which were then devoted to it. Then came bicycling, fox hunting and walking as fashionable sports. The present youth's mind seems to turn to horse riding. With this young ladies, the various trunks in which their tastes exhibit themselves are too variable to be easily defined, but certain it is that the latest craze is mandolin playing.

A SPANISH MANDOLIN PLAYER.

It was not long since that the banjo was the rage, when all the negro minstrel-looking clowns in town that could raise a respectable suit of clothes were in demand as teachers. What possessed society girls to take up the banjo is as easily answered as the question. Who assaulted Mr. Patterson? The banjo, besides being an imperfect instrument at best, is the one that affords the least satisfactory accompaniment to the popular music of the day. Then it is likely that it was for this last reason that the mandolin was adopted, as the strumming on the strings is performed with what is called a plectrum, instead of the clumsy fingers. The mandolin is an instrument of Spanish origin, and was possibly brought to the attention of our public first by the numerous troupes of Spanish students who visit this country. It has eight strings, strung in couples, representing the same four, so that the strings themselves represent but four notes. The object of the double string is to produce the trill upon which the effect largely depends. Mandolin vary in price from $5 to $50, and it is said that one factory in Connecticut is running night and day, turning out the "imported" mandolins that average about $25 in price. With the rage for mandolins came the necessity for instructors, and it is astonishing the number that have appeared, and the slight knowledge of English they possess.

THE AMERICAN MANDOLIN PLAYER.

These Mandolin masters are usually Italians, who will tell you "Ah! no language no good. Ze mandolin es ah so easy, so romantic," and this explanation of the popularity of their instrument is accompanied with the usual shrug of shoulders and distortion of limbs and eyebrows. The artist has allowed his fancy a little freedom in the above picture, and portrayed the singer as he appeared but a few years ago in his native costume, before he was shaven, and crowded into the broad-cloth he wears at present. And these are the gentlemen who are now admitted into the most fashionable parlors. The artist has also caught exceedingly well the awkward manner in which the instrument is handled by the American amateur. This primitive instrument itself is as much out of place in the elaborate surroundings of a fashionable parlor as its compass is ill adapted to the requirements of modern music, and it cannot be long before it will be abandoned and hung in company with its predecessor, the banjo, as a piece of wall decoration, and the future banjo will have it pointed out to them as one of the instruments on which the young ladies could play so "lovely." But for the present, inexorable fashion must have its fancy gratified, and when the dusky descendant of the Gensini finds his present occupation gone, he will let his beard assume its old-time growth, once more sling the strap of the neglected hand organ across his shoulders and proceed to grind out his living as before. HOMES!

In the Silent City of the Dead.

A Pen Picture of Lindenwood, Its Promoters, Its Price and Improvements.

The Magnificent Gravestones and a Plan for Plots, Christian Burials.

FACTS FOR FUNERALS.

And Information that Will Interest Every Lot Owner in Lindenwood.

Hon. I. D. G. Nelson sends THE SENTINEL a volume descriptive of Lindenwood cemetery. The book is from his pen and is a gem in its way. The officers of Lindenwood are:

I. D. G. Nelson, president; Col. J. D. Bond, treasurer; W. Reitze, secretary. The corporators are J. L. Williams, II. McCulloch, S. B. Bond, I. D. G. Nelson, O. P. Morgan, A. P. Edgerton, O. A. Simons, George H. Wilson, J. H. Bass, W. H. Hoffman, J. D. Bond, A. E. Hoffman. The board of trustees, I. D. G. Nelson, O. A. Simons, O. P. Morgan, J. L. Williams, S. B. Bond, with John H. Doswell, superintendent and landscape architect.

After giving a correct view of the entrance and a map of the cemetery, the articles incorporating and rules governing it are given. The report shows that on the 5th day of July, 1859, Jesse L. Williams, Hugh McCulloch, Chas. D. Bond, David F. Compaert, Royal W. Taylor, Allen Hamilton, Alexander M. Orbeson, John B. Hill, Pliny Hoagland, Alfred D. Brandriff, Oehning Bird and Isaac D. G. Nelson, purchased 152 acres of ground for burial purposes for $7,827.50. May 30, 1860, the grounds were dedicated to supernal purposes, and long ago the original purchasers were paid back and now have an interest in the cemetery only equal to other lot owners. "But," says the report, "while indulging in these great reflections, it is eminently proper to call to mind the fact that since our organization one-half of the original corporators, Messrs. Allen Hamilton Charles D. Bond, John E. Hill, R. W. Taylor, Oehning Bird and Pliny Hoagland, have gone to rest, and are now sleeping in the bosom of the earth they took so much interest in purchasing and preparing for the purpose."

After the first purchase twenty-seven acres or so were added at a cost of $2,480 but later some fifty-two acres were sold for $4,580, not to mention the spot of land sold to the Jewish cemetery, leaving 124 acres owned by the Lindenwood Cemetery association.

The report touches on the natural beauty of the ground and notes the improvements added, among which is the iron fence, costing $2,552.25 and the stone lodge, costing $6,901.29. Mr. Nelson notes the neglect of old grave yards, and commends the disposition of the Broadway cemetery—in fact he realizes the necessity of public parks in Fort Wayne—some resting place open to all people, like Lindenwood is.

Mr. Nelson agrees with the London Daily News, that it is time to discourage feasting on the day of burial, and all useless or extravagant expenditure in the coffin and its furniture on the occasion of the funeral, and in the wearing of mourning. The society adopts the broad ground that the funerals should be conducted and mourning worn without the unmeaning pomp, vain ostentation and pagantry of half-dressed, scarfs, plumes, mourning coaches, heavy cravat trimmings, and the like, which are quite inconsistent with a hopeful belief in future state, involve superfluous expenditure, inflict severe hardship upon persons of limited means, and neither mitigate grief nor manifest respect for the dead. It offers as suggestions: "That every part of the solemn rite of burial be made a labor of love, to the exclusion, as far as possible, of paid labor; that the body be buried in a plain wood coffin in the earth itself, with nothing to arrest its return to earth whence it was taken; that perhaps the best plan that has been suggested, that both men and women wear a band of black cloth on the arm to indicate that a death has taken place in the family; and that all headstones and memorials be Christian in character."

Mr. Nelson refers to the disposition to make permanent provision for the care of lots and tomb stones and adds that the Hon. Alfred P. Edgerton, the heirs of Hon. Pliny Hoagland and Jared D. Bond, Esq., have deposited to the credit of the Lindenwood bequest fund a liberal sum each, for the future care and protection of their lots and monuments.

The volume is illustrated with pictures of the finest monuments that lower majestically in the "city of the dead," where now rest over 4,925 bodies. The monuments are thus described in the book:

The Bass monument, erected in 1862, to the memory of Col. Simon S. Bass, who fell at Shiloh, by his regiment and friends. It is an appropriate marble shaft eight feet high, draped with the American flag—a fitting tribute to his bravery and patriotism.

The Hanna monument, erected in 1864 by the heirs of Judge Samuel Hanna, is of Italian marble, the style, twelve feet high, appropriately ornamented with trusses. Its workmanship and finish is equalled by few of its class.

The Ewing monument, erected in 1870, is a Scotch, highly polished granite obelisk, thirty-five feet high, resting on a Quincy granite base eight feet square. It is said to be the largest and finest single shaft of Scotch granite in America. It was selected and erected by Mr. B. D. Miner, executor of the estate of Col. George W. Ewing.

The Edgerton monument is an obelisk of Italian marble, twenty feet high, sound and beautiful when erected in 1872, but is now disintegrating and showing signs of decay. Mr. Alfred P. Edgerton, by whom it was erected, has provided for its restoration, if ever needed, by a wise and liberal provision to the bequest fund, which was made before any signs of decay began to appear.

The Williams monument was erected by Mr. Jesse L. Williams in 1875. It is an obelisk of Westerly, Rhode Island, granite, twenty-eight feet high, hammer-dressed, of massive, fine and commanding proportions.

The Simons monument is of Westerly, Rhode Island, granite, erected in 1876 by Mr. Oscar A. Simons. It is of cottage style, hammer-dressed, with polished die, twelve feet high; one of the most attractive and solid works of the kind.

The Wood monument, a sarcophagus, from the Hallowell, Maine, quarries; lower base, eleven feet six inches, by eight feet six inches; height, nine feet. It was exhibited at the centennial at Philadelphia, in 1876, and erected the same year. The workmanship is unsurpassingly fine, and the style attractive. It was erected by Mrs. George W. Wood in memory of her husband.

The Morgan monument was erected in 1884 by Mr. Oliver P. Morgan. It is made of Quincy (Mass.) granite, cottage style, ornamented with columns and capitals; height ten feet; hammer-dressed, with polished die; distinct and attractive.

LOOK THEM OVER.

Items of Interest to the People of Fort Wayne.

"Mrs. Hunsicker, of Monroeville, accompanied by Mrs. Brandenberry, of the same place, are visiting Henry Hunsicker, of this city," says the South Bend Times.

There are at present 265,000 Indians in the United States, and the landed estates of these red skin aristocrats amount to 132,000,000 acres. The law gives 1,100 to an Indian and square, and if there are four children the family is endowed by Uncle Sam with 3,300 acres.

An exchange well says: "Newspaper editing is very funny amusement. If you give a man a puff he never sees it; but let one line against him appear, and he sees it almost before the paper is off the press; and while he would not have time to stop and say 'thank you' he has time to race all over town to denounce the editor who seeks to print the now."

Over in Noble county the medical society has adopted a new plan for the doctoring the poor of the county. Instead of bidding for the work as has been the practice heretofore, the society has agreed to do the doctoring for the poor of the entire county for a certain sum, and the poor are at liberty to call any physician they may desire, thus often saving them the trouble of going a great distance, as often under the old plan the county doctor lived a great distance away.

Amos Yocum, G. W. Chambers and James Corner, who have just been discharged from the Michigan City penitentiary, after two years of imprisonment, were each released from the penalty of fine and costs by Commissioner Martindale. Yocum is the Oberlinville postmaster who embezzled postoffice funds and fled to Denver, but afterward returned and surrendered to the officers. Chambers and Corner were counterfeiter, the former having been arrested at Island Lake and the latter at Evansville.

The Richmond Telegraph of a recent date furnishes the following incident connected with Graham, the murderer of his wife. It says that Joe Brush an engineer for whom Graham was fireman after his release from the Northern prison, and who resides at Richmond, makes the following statement: "After Graham was released from the state's prison I had quite a long talk with him. He says that while he was in Michigan City he got up a plan to escape. About half the convicts were taken into his confidence and the plan was laid to murder the guards and release every convict in the prison. One of the prisoners, in hopes of securing the good will of the guards and superior officers, revealed the plot, and on the day that Graham was to lead the insurrection he was seized and placed in the dungeon, where for sixty days he was fed only on bread and water. No more chances for such bloody work were given him and he served out his time, but this incident goes to show what a bloody minded monster he is."

A RASCALLY TRUSTEE KILLED.

CHATTANOOGA, March 29.—William J. Jones, trustee of Granger county, Tenn., who enjoyed the absolute confidence of the community, on Friday returned from his office and placed $2,500 in his room, which he had collected in county taxes. He bade his wife good bye, saying he had business in an adjoining county and would return next day. During the day a cousin of the lady came to her house and was given a room for the night. About midnight he was aroused by a burglar and fired on him. The thief fell dead. He proved to be the trustee, who was endeavoring to steal public money.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27.—The case of Thomas G. Gaylor against the Pullman palace car company for loss by the theft of a $300 scarf pin while asleep on one of the company's cars, was decided in favor of the plaintiff. The court holds the company responsible on the same grounds as a hotel for the property of its guests. The case will be carried to the higher courts.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—The type-setting contest, which began here on Tuesday, March 17, closed Saturday, Duguid, of Cincinnati, taking the first prize, and McCann, of New York, second. Duguid exceeded all previous records, his net composition being 6,035 ems in three hours. The record of the eight contestants in the thirty-three hours of the tournament was as follows: Duguid, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, 63,200 ems; McCann, of the New York Herald, 68,907; Burges, of the New York World, 65,714; Levy, of the Chicago Herald, 61,239; Thiens, of the Philadelphia Times, 59,423; Washington, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, 53,230; Nolan, of the Philadelphia North American, 52,575; Craze, of the Philadelphia News, 47,434. Mr. Duguid says "it was a hard contest all through. I never was before pitted against such experienced compositors as McCann and Barnes, and I consider it a great honor to win the championship against men who in turn have held the title. I attribute my success to my temperance principles, for I suppose you know that I neither smoke or drink."

Lafayette, Ind., shares with twenty-three other cities and towns in the United States, the distinction of being named after the great French patriot who did so much for this country and his own, but it is alone in the honor of being mentioned in the Encyclopedia Britannica. Life in the lively pushing city on the Wabash, with its many easy homes, fine public buildings and general air of prosperity and enterprise, is very pleasant, and recently many of its citizens feel that it has assumed new charms since rheumatism has been robbed of its terrors.

This great benefactor, however, is not one which rejoices in this particular Lafayette alone, but it has been given to other Lafayettes as well, and to the world. Athlophorus is the magic remedy which drives away rheumatism and neuralgia, and Lafayette has only shown its characteristic enterprise in recognizing the new cure's many virtues. Among those whom it has benefited is Mrs. Francis Heath, of No. 79 Ferry street, an old resident and the mother of banker Heath. In answer to one who recently called on her to learn the facts in the case she gave this account:

"I have had rheumatic pains in my feet for a number of years. They affected me at times so that it was with much difficulty that I could walk, especially in going down stairs. Athlophorus was first recommended to me by Bishop Downman. I did not get it at that time, but kept trying other medicines. I then sent for and bought a bottle. I took a dose, and it seemed to me as if I could feel it go through my system until it came directly to the sore spot. It felt just as a little stream of water looks when during its course it comes in contact with a pebble. One or the other must give way. The water may run around the stone, but that was not the way Athlophorus did. It did not go around the pain, but drove it away. The relief was almost instantaneous. While I am getting along in years and cannot expect to get rid entirely of these pains at once, yet a small dose of Athlophorus in a little cream—the way in which I find most pleasant to take it—relieves the pain immediately."

Mr. Baldridge, who is in the real estate and insurance business at No. 94 South Third street, and who lives at No. 17 North Sixth street, happening to be passing while Mrs. Heath was speaking, she called him in and he gladly told how he had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophorus.

"I was just about to start down to my office one morning last winter," he said, "when a terrible pain took me right in the hip and then ran down the sciatic nerve as quick as lightning. It was with much pain and distress that I managed to get down to my office at all. My business being such that it was necessary for me to be at the office every day, I was obliged to hobble along and get there the best I could. I suffered for some time in this way, trying all kinds of remedies, but nothing seemed to check the disease until I commenced using Athlophorus. The first four doses gave me relief. I only used one bottle, and am perfectly well, as you see me now. I have never had any return of the pain since I took the Athlophorus."

If you cannot get Athlophorus of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if it does not do as you wish, we will refund the money, but order at once from us, as directed, Athlophorus Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

NEVER SAY DIE THOUGH YOU COUGH TILL YOUR HEART ACHES

When the "Life Restoring" East India Remedy is at hand, your cough will satisfy the most skeptical doctor. It is the only cure of Indian Hemp will positively cure Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Nervous Debility, and Nasal Catarrh. It is an important remedy. Try it—prove it to yourself.

Here are a few extracts from letters of persons who have been cured, and now order for their friends:

"I fear cough is in a decline, and as my medicines cured my only brother of a hemorrhage of the lungs about a year ago, I wish cousin to take it." "My true friend," HANNAH MICKLE, Near Woodbury, N. J.

"As your medicine cured me of Consumption, since then I have not taken time to try them. I gained fifteen pounds while taking the first three bottles." J. V. HULL, Lawrenceburg, Anderson Co., Ky.

"Mother has been suffering with Bronchitis nearly twenty years, and tried most all kinds of medicine, and says the Cunningham India is the only thing that gives her relief." JANE A. ABBINGOOD, Lovelockville, Ballard Co., Ky.

"I know all about the Cunningham India. Fifteen years ago it cured my daughter of the Asthma; she had it very bad for several years, but was perfectly cured. Please send me a box of your medicine." JACOB THOUT, Deep River, Howesville Co., Iowa.

"I have taken the Cunningham India as directed, and am happy to tell you that I am perfectly cured of Nasal Catarrh. You were right, my trouble was not Consumption, but Catarrh." JAMES A. CALDWELL, Walnut Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"It has cured Mrs. Belmont of General Debility of the whole system, of two or three years' standing, and others will soon reflect. Ask your druggist for Dr. H. JAMES' Cunningham India, and if they fail you, send to us direct, $2.50 per bottle or three bottles for $6.00. (Pills and Ointment, $1.25 each.) CHAS. D. BARKER & CO., proprietors, 1013 North 2nd, Philadelphia, Pa.

ALL THAT SCIENCE AND SKILL could do to make Benson's Capeline Plasters the best porous plasters in the world, has been done. Wherever it is possible to improve them, it is done. Benson's plasters are not made to impose upon the credulous, but to cure disease. Their eminent success has produced for them the voluntary endorsement of 6000 physicians, pharmacists and druggists throughout the country, and the outspoken preference of the intelligent public. They are prompt, powerful, cleanly and certain. They cure where others will often reflect. Ask your druggist for "Capeline," "Capeline," or "Capeline," plasters. (Capeline) druggists only. The "Three Roads" trademark on the wrapper and the word "Capeline" on the center of the plaster.

MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1886.

Mrs. JAMES BROWN POTTER, who recently electrified a Washington audience by reciting "Oster Joe," was a witness in a New York law case several days ago. She wore an English ulster, and attracted much attention as she gave her testimony in a clear and concise manner.

The Hon. Proctor Knott gives Moses the highest place as a statesman in the history of the human race. But the New Orleans Picayune makes the pertinent and practical suggestion that "when Moses lived there was no lobby to bribe the legislature and no morning papers to give a man's mistakes away."

"C. O. D.," which has become incorporated into mercantile phraseology, was invented in Boston a quarter of a century ago by Henry Damon, who sold many boots and shoes subject to payment upon delivery. The express order, "collect on delivery," was then thus abbreviated.

CHIEF MAHEDY, of the New York Fire Department, was killed recently while en route to a fire, his wagon being dashed to pieces by colliding with a fire engine. About a year ago the Chief of the Cincinnati Fire Department was killed in the same way, and shortly thereafter an Assistant Fire Marshal of Chicago lost his life under similar circumstances.

ALEX. CUMBERSON was on trial at Lafayette, Ga., for assault with intent to murder. When he got up to make his statement to the jury he determined to use an argument that in these hard times would fall with telling effect. He said: "Gentlemen, I don't want to go to the chair-gang. I owe Mr. George Clements lots of money, and I want you to let me stay here so I can work and pay him what I owe him." He got clear.

LIEUT. GEN. PHIL SHERIDAN is a domestic man, fond of his children, three bright little girls, with whom he may frequently be seen walking on pleasant afternoons in Washington. "Little Phil's" hair is quite gray and his mustache is almost white, but he wears a red necktie. He also wears a sack coat, a tall silk hat, carries his cane in his coat pocket with a jaunty air, and looks like the brave bear-slayer he is.

MARSHALL H. BALLOU, of Stoughton, Massachusetts, is the lord-high-almost-everything in his neighborhood. He has just been elected Selectman in addition to numerous other offices he holds. A local newspaper says: "As Assessor, he will assess the taxes; as Collector, he will collect the same; as Treasurer, he will receive them, giving himself a receipt therefor; as Selectman, he will vote to spend it, and draw an order on himself for the money, which, as Treasurer, he will pay."

JANITOR KING, of the Virginia City court house, bought a piece of cheese and put it in his overcoat pocket, and afterward laid the coat down for a time. Then he put it on and went to a saloon, where he played cards for the drinks. He noticed, as he thought, that Tom Gracy, who was looking on, nudged him very often as a signal how to play his cards. He lost, and accused Gracy of misleading him. While Gracy was denying that he had touched him, a big rat jumped out of King's pocket. He had been feasting on the cheese and nudging the card player.

The latest idea in Berlin is a musical sewing machine, which plays a succession of lively tunes while in action. This is making the labor of needlewomen a luxury, and causes a wonder to arise what Hood's songstresses of the shirt would have said of such a change. Another mechanical novelty interesting to ladies is the application of electric light to the piano-forte. The material and mechanism are concealed inside the case, so that the light is provided for the performer without any apparent disturbance of the ordinary arrangements.

The late Dr. Samuel Wolcott, the eminent Congregationalist minister, in his later life wrote many hymns, and has left on record an account of how he began to do so. He was fifty-six years old, and had never put two rhymes together, and had taken it for granted that he was as incompetent to write a hymn, or even a stanza, as to work a miracle. "However," he says, "I resolved that I would try to write a hymn of five stanzas, and proceeded to plan it, precisely as I would plan a sermon. I said, the first stanza shall be a recognition of God the Father; the second a recognition of Christ the Redeemer; the third a prayer to Christ the Redeemer; the fifth shall blend the two in one address."

A more perfect recipe for wooden stanzas it would be difficult to frame. "The result was the hymn beginning 'Father, I own Thy voice,' and the author was surprised to find he had written what could actually be sung. Many of his hymns have become favorites throughout the country."

BILIOUSNESS
Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, offensive breath, coated tongue, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

It developed at Uniontown, Pa., Friday, that Captain A. C. Nutt, who was murdered by Dukes, who in turn was killed by his victim's son, was short in his accounts as state treasurer $42,500 at the time of his death. The question of settlement of the Nutt estate led to the disclosure.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cures of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia or pain in the chest are simply marvellous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedy. You'll say so after using.

ANSON HUGH, of Blackberry, Ill., says he owes his life to Gilmore's Magdalen Elixir. Try it.

MR. A. HIGGINS, of Wyoming, N. Y., says he had the piles for nearly 40 years, and was cured by using Gilmore's Pile specific.

WHY WILL YOU SUFFER from ague and malaria when Gilmore's Aromatic Wine will cure you. GILMORE'S NEURALGIA CURE is a positive cure for neuralgia in the face, side and stomach.

JOHN H. YATES, of Batavia, N. Y., says: "I cheerfully commend Your AROMATIC WINE. It did me new life and vigor and through this week I am free of mine. It did for all my stomach ills. More than the doctor and his pills." For sale by Dreier & Bro's, and G. H. Gumpert.

The first letter written by the poet Longfellow is copied in the new biography. The letter is dated Portland, January, 1814, the writer having almost reached his fourteenth birthday. It is as follows: "Dear Papa: Ann wants a little Bible like little Betsy's. Will you please buy her one if you can find any in Boston? I have been to school all week and only got seven marks. I shall have a billet on Monday. I wish you to buy me a drum."

Salvation Oil cures rheumatism in from twelve to forty-eight hours. Swellings and bruises in a few hours. All pains immediately upon application. Price 25 cents a bottle.

The Rev. Oscar D. Osborn, a married preacher, who eloped last November from Portsmouth, Ohio, with a young woman whom he married without getting a divorce, plead guilty of bigamy at Cincinnati, Friday, and sobbed bitterly.

The "old reliable"—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

In the Dear Old Days. We differ in creed and politics, but we are a unit all the same on the desirableness of a fine head of hair. If you mourn the loss of this blessing and ornament, a bottle or two of Parker's Hair Balsam will make you look as you did in the dear old days. It is worth trying. It is the only standard 60c article for the hair.

The "Breadwinner" company opens at the Academy to-night.

Pat Moran was sent to jail for drunkenness, this morning, by Mayor Muhler.

John T. Raymond will play "The Magistrate" at the Temple next Saturday.

Next Thursday is all fool's day. Everybody gets a chance on that agreeable occasion.

Jack Hamilton leaves to-morrow for Chicago, and will ship his horse, Alex, that city.

Murray's foundry was opened this morning, after being shut down for a few days.

Henry Cook and Mary E. Slagle, Wm. Wessel and Lizetta Hilke have been licensed to wed.

There will be Lenten services in St. Paul's Lutheran church on Wednesday morning and evening.

The United Brethren temperance society will give a concert at the church parlors Wednesday evening.

M. N. Jacobs is the papa of a sweet girl baby and his friends smoke to the cheer, and wish it "masseloff."

The German opera company passed through the city yesterday, from Chicago for Pittsburg, on train No. 6.

A big force of men are excavating for Louis Fox's business block, at the corner of Calhoun and Jefferson streets.

The county commissioners will rebuild the Williamsport bridge for about $4,500. The first estimate placed the cost at $8,000.

The democratic nominating convention of Lafayette township will be held at the Center school house on Saturday, April 3, at 2 o'clock.

"Mr. Joseph Stults made a visit to his sons, Drs. Charles and Emory, located in Fort Wayne, Friday evening," says the Huntington Herald.

Milt H. Williams, Indianapolis; Miss Sadie Collett, Hillsdale; G. J. Pippus, Huntington, and W. Wallace, Lafayette, are guests of the Avolon house.

Mr. Wm. Wilkinson, of Troy, N. Y., is the guest of his brothers, Supt. John Wilkinson, of the country home, and Lieut. Frank Wilkinson, of the police force.

A Pennsylvania railroad official says that without question the company will be running its own sleeping coaches on its entire system before eighteen months rolls around.

The Pittsburg limited made the run this morning from Crestline to this city, a distance of 131 miles, in two hours and forty-five minutes, with seven stops. The train was behind time.

Mr. O. T. Thomas, formerly a Sentinel type, has quit the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and is at Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Thomas anticipates going on a farm out there, although at present he is sticking type.

Building permits have been issued to Christian Pohlman to build a one-story frame house on lot 2, Reed's addition to cost $350, and to Louis Hazzard, to erect a frame stable on lot 30, Bowersville addition, to cost $100.

Dr. S. B. McManus, formerly a Gazette reporter, is in very poor health. From his home near Lagrange he writes poetry for the Warsaw Iron Mountain. He is a regular contributor to the San Francisco Call and Boston Journal. His forthcoming volume of poems will be interesting.

"The Breadwinner" at the Academy to-night.

Mr. Louis Brame was at Richmond Saturday.

The glass blowers went to New York this morning.

The "Naiad Queen" at the Temple to-morrow night.

"Maggie, the Midget," is from the pen of Fred. Williams.

Right Rev. Bishop Knickerbocker will be the guest of Mr. B. D. Angell while in the city next Sunday.

Mr. A. J. Read, the veteran livery stable omnibus, was 89 years old Saturday and is yet a "young man."

Miss Ramsey, a little girl, fell down the stairway at the Metropolitan theater Saturday night and was badly hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Blount were yesterday the guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. F. Beegan, of East Jefferson street.

Judge Hensch rendered judgment for Aultman, Miller & Co. against Robert Shirley for $248.41. This was on a foreclosure of a chattel mortgage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heustis have engaged the Tolan home on East Wayne street, and will remove from Toledo to this city. Mr. Heustis travels for A. C. Trentman.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Rain, followed by slightly colder weather.

Rev. Father Twigg, of Arcola, came to the city this morning and is a guest of the St. Joseph hospital, where he will remain for several weeks. Father Twigg is completely broken down in health.

H. O. Arnold, Bluffton; D. A. Walmer, Montpelier, S. Kleicher, Indianapolis; W. H. Heustis and wife, Toledo; Samuel Sault, Indianapolis; Carlos Zarnasha, Chicago, and O. C. Morrow, Cincinnati, are guests of the Robinson house.

As THE SENTINEL suggested, Mr. Sam R. Millier has been requested by prominent citizens and will repeat the "Naiad Queen" at the Temple to-morrow night. The show will have a great house, as it should, besides it is a pleasure to assist Mr. Millier.

Miss Fannie Page sang Miss Stella Lawrence's part in the "Naiad Queen" last Saturday night. Although the young lady had but a brief time for rehearsal, she did remarkably well and pleased every one. Miss Chubhill, her cousin, made a decided hit in the operetta, and her beauty has been favorably commented on.

The remains of Helen King, little daughter of Mr. Pendleton King, and granddaughter of Hon. L. M. Nindie, and who died about two years ago at her southern home, will be brought to this city on Wednesday of this week. The interment will take place at Lindenwood. Mr. King goes shortly to Constantinople as secretary of legation, to which he has been appointed by President Cleveland.

James M. Taylor, clerk of Washington county, writes from Salem, Ind., that he is a democratic candidate for secretary of state. Mr. Taylor wants THE SENTINEL to notice his candidacy and he "will prepay the charges." Mr. Taylor will get no notice, neither can his money buy one. THE SENTINEL is not in that kind of business. A gentleman's democracy or his personal friendship may win for him complimentary mention in THE SENTINEL, but his bundle can't. This paper prefers to earn its money honestly.

The strike west is beginning to tell severely on the passenger as well as through freight traffic. One general passenger agent states that the through business is fully 50 per cent. lighter than it would have been had these labor troubles had arisen. It has practically stopped emigration. Hundreds of farmers in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, who had made arrangements to emigrate to Kansas and other southwestern territories, dare not start with their families, so much uncertainty is there as to their getting through.

Master Mechanic W. S. Morris returned from Springfield last evening, where he was called by Mr. Barnes. He said to our railroad reporter that everything was quiet along the line, except at the St. Louis yards, where a few switchmen struck, but he expected that the little disturbance would all be settled to-day. He goes on to say that when the strike is settled the Walnut would have all it can do and the shops would run nine hours the year around without shutting down, and some months they will run ten hours.

BOSHET'S TRIAL.

The Abolt Township Farmer Makes a Good Defense.

John L. Boshet was arraigned before Justice Ryan this afternoon for attempting to kill his wife with an axe.

The justice court was too small and an adjournment was had to the old superior court room in the court house. Prosecutor Dawson appeared for the state and detailed the career of Boshet and his murderous intent, not only in striking his wife with an axe, but by threats against his children.

Boshet said he did raise an axe to his wife and tossed it at her, but he insisted that it was in his endeavor to force a confession out of the woman, whom he suspected of illicit intimacy with Henry Thomas, the coon now in jail. Boshet related how the children were urged from home and how Thomas would step around to get his "washing" or "grind an axe." The old gentleman is quite intelligent and made a pretty strong case against his wife, who sat near him and is an unprepossessing looking female, from whose face perspiration streamed as her peculiarities were aired.

Justice Ryan said there was no case against Boshet and the crowd cheered him. The man, however, at Prosecutor Dawson's suggestion, was held under a $100 bond to await a grand jury investigation. Thomas, the negro will be liberated and Mrs. Boshet will have a private hearing.

BEACH'S BAD BREAK.

A Tale of Two Cities Disclosed in a Divorce Complaint.

Dorothy C. Beach this morning filed an application for a decree of divorce from Fred Beach, the second hand furniture dealer, who recently moved to Huntington. The complaint is in Mr. J. M. Robinson's master style and depicts Beach in a most puerile light. It is charged that he is a drunkard, has cruelly treated his wife, and in fact has threatened to kill her. He has failed to provide for the support of Mrs. Beach and her two children and the woman prays that Fred be restrained from disposing of his property or his children prior to the trial. This embargo Judge O'Rourke at once placed on Beach, who is at Huntington.

Mrs. Beach is the daughter of August Reiling, the Pearl street locksmith. Saturday he went to Huntington after his daughter and her two children. Beach seized the old man, assaulted him and took the little girls forcibly from him. For this escapade he has an assault and battery and a habens corpus case pending against him in Huntington county, besides an old assault on a battery case here. Mrs. Beach alleges that her father is worth $10,000, and that he is anxious to take care of her and her children and prays Judge O'Rourke to so decide.

TOWNSHIP PRIMARIES.

Democratic Nominations Made in Six Townships Saturday.

The democrats held primary elections in Pleasant, Abolt, Monroe, Jefferson, El River and Perry townships, Saturday. The result as far as learned is given below:

Pleasant township—Wm. Dalman, trustee; Daniel Swank, assessor; J. J. Reibling and Cornelius Forrell, justices of the peace; Gilbert C. Miller, constable.

Monroe township—Wm. Shaffer, trustee; Steve Heath, assessor; Sol. Doty and James Nuttle, justices of the peace; Geo. Ringwalt, constable.

Perry township—George Gump, trustee; Danford Parker, assessor; P. Jackson, justice of the peace.

Jefferson township—Frank Gladie, trustee; A. Miller, assessor.

Abolt township—Oelming Bird, trustee.

El River township—Luther Greenwell, trustee; Nelson Johnson, assessor.

Monroe township—Sylvanus Baker, trustee; A. S. Robinson, assessor.

George Hazzard in Trouble Again.

The notorious George Hazzard, a former Fort Wayne resident, who was the bright particular star in the federal court at Indianapolis for a long time several years ago, and whose crooked escapades were innumerable, has drifted out to California, and is at his old tricks again. At last accounts he was at Fresno, in jail for swindling an old man out of $15. He was identified there by a former Indian, and at once acknowledged his identity, but claimed that he was trying to do right.

Thieves stole a quantity of meat from the cellar of Francois Goeke, at Hadley. The meat belonged to Tom Toomey, whose house recently burned there. Sheriff Nelson is after the thieves.

The Springfield Engine and Thresher company sue John Oline to recover $2,000 on a chattel mortgage. Randall & Vesey filed the suit.

Sheriff Nelson has information that E. F. Felix, who robbed Dick Meyers, of Montroville, is under arrest at Cadwell, Ohio.

ROME

The Eternal City and Its Peculiarities Depicted by Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger.

On the occasion of Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger's lecture Sunday evening, Library hall was densely packed, not only in the auditorium, but the immense stage back of the flats was filled with people. The Catholic clergy of the city occupied places on the stage.

The Bishop was clad in cassock, rochet and cape, and his pectoral cross shone out brightly amid the white and purple vestiture. In his description of the city of Rome, the lecturer spoke of the city as it was in ancient times and as it is to-day. Sewerage, soil, climate, and other features of interest to the scientist and student were briefly referred to. The description of the grand old St. Peter's was vivid and conveyed an excellent idea of the greatest temple on earth. The Basilica of St. Paul, with its huge columns of Egyptian marble and the precious stones in its rich altar were the subject of an elegant depiction. The places where St. Peter was crucified, and St. Paul beheaded, together with the catacombs, were points of much interest.

The beautiful word picture of Leo XIII was eagerly followed by the immense audience, but when the bishop told of the holy father's great love for America, her people and her government, and that the pope said "Not a country or nation in the world had the courage recently to cry a halt in the interest of its citizens, when the Italian government confiscated the propaganda, except the government of the United States," the audience cheered heartily. The bishop's pleasant narrative of his ordering the stars and stripes hung to the breeze over the American college in Rome on the Fourth of July last year, within sight of the Quirinal palace, was much enjoyed and loudly cheered.

The prelate's visit (during a delay in his work before the cardinals) to the city of Bari, at the invitation of the archbishop of that city and of Cardinal Simoni, was of interest. On this trip, he passed through Naples, where he witnessed the liquefaction of the blood of St. Januarius. The clot of blood of the saint is preserved in a glass vial kept in an iron safe, to open which three different keys are required. One of these is in possession of the municipal authorities.

one is held by the archbishop and the remaining one by the Cathedral chapter. The jar is exposed to the faithful on the saint's day, in the month of May, and in full view of the congregation, without any human agency, this blood becomes perfectly liquid and as natural in color as though freshly drawn from human veins. The bishop's interesting narration of this process was of an interesting nature to the general hearer, but especially so to students and scientific men, as well as to the pious believer.

The bishop's object of his visit to Rome and his long stay of eight months in that city in the interest of the late National council were happily told.

The lecture lasted one hour and fifteen minutes amid breathless silence, and to the attentive interest of that immense audience. The bishop was in excellent voice and was distinctly heard throughout the great hall.
